

On a Winters' Snow Day

By: Carolyn McPartlin

Let it snow, let it snow.
Let all the whiteness show.
Let the cold air blow.
And the clouds glow.

Children fall asleep dreaming about snow,
In hopes for the weather man to say:
North Andover may go out and play,
Because you've got a snow day

Wake up early.
Look at the snow all pearly.
Now with all your excitement, spin around and do a twirly.

Quickly run down stairs.
Sit down in your chairs.
Eat like bears,
So there's the whole day to spare.

Open your winter box.
Take out your warm socks.
Remember your snow pants rock.
Hurry up look at the clock.
Put your jacket and mittens on,
So you can keep warm

Gather all your friends and neighbors.
There is a lot of labor.
The driveway is covered in white.
Your shovels are in sight.

Now there is time for pleasure,
Go get the yard stick and measure.
Look at all the white treasure!

Let's make a path for sledding,
But make sure you know where you're heading.
Don't forget to look out.
Snowballs are heading your way but shhhh don't shout!

The day is now over.
Remember winter bring new surprises,
Usually the snow amount rises,
And hopefully the snow days grow in sizes!
